

List of topics for Exam 3

Second half of Chapter 8: Love and attachment

- Be able to explain Marston's and Hecht's Love Ways. How do the Love Ways relate to communication?
- Be able to thoroughly explain Attachment Theory for children and adults. Why are attachment styles important? How are they reinforced? What working models do they involve? What role do caregivers have in attachment? How do attachment styles change?

Chapter 9: Communicating Sexually

- What are unique characteristics of Generation Z in terms of sex and identity?
- Be able to explain the Dual Control Model
- How are communication, sexual satisfaction, and relational satisfaction interconnected?
- Flirting – why do people flirt? What are the flirting styles? When does flirting become harassment?
- Safer sex communication – what are barriers?

Chapter 10: Maintaining relationships

- Be able to explain and identify pro-social maintenance behaviors.
- Be able to explain and identify anti-social maintenance behaviors.
- What are insights from brain research on relationship maintenance?
- What are issues associated with maintenance in long distance relationships?
- From interdependence theory, what are rewards, costs, and outcomes? What are comparison levels and comparison levels for alternatives? What else influences outcomes? What are the four types of relationships?

Chapter 11: Conflict

- Be able to describe Gottman's couple types. Which couple types tend to have satisfying relationships?
- What are the conflict styles?
- Be able to explain negative reciprocity and issues associated with it
- Be able to explain the demand-withdraw pattern
- Be able to explain emotional flooding
- Be able to explain the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse
- Explain the difference between solvable vs. unsolvable problems
- Be able to explain research-backed ways of handling conflict
- What kinds of attributions predict the use of constructive and destructive conflict styles?
- Be able to explain Canary and Cupach's Conflict Frames